

INDICT FORMER ALIEN PROPERTY HEAD

REVEAL VAST LIQUOR SMUGGLING PLOT

ALLEGED BRIBER IS HELD UNDER BOND IN BOOZE CONSPIRACY

Seized In Plot At Boat Load Captured

Details of the alleged bribery plot to smuggle liquor into the United States by the use of a boat load of flowers, captured by the federal grand jury, were made public today. The plot was discovered by the federal grand jury, which indicted Thomas W. Miller, former alien property custodian, who was indicted with four foreigners and three foreign corporations here yesterday on charges of conspiring to defraud the United States government out of more than $7,000,000 said today he would have his client in court to plead "not guilty" next Wednesday.

The federal grand jury was "hoodwinked" into returning the indictment, Miller's attorneys said. Miller was in New York today but will not make a statement.

The indictment against the former alien property custodian and the others contained two counts and was handed up before Federal Judge Sawtelle.

Among the witnesses here this week were Roxie Stinson, Columbus, who was one of the star witnesses in the Daugherty investigation, John T. King, national republican leader and Gaston B. Means, who was brought here from Atlanta penitentiary, but his testimony was not needed.

The four aliens are accused of working through Col. Miller and others in positions of trust and responsibility at Washington to obtain cash and liberty bonds held as part of the German property seized by the United States at the start of the war.

Plans for the conspiracy were alleged to have been laid in Germany. Claims were filed under Swiss names. Former Judge Robert M. Stone, counsel for Miller, filed a blanket denial of the charges.

BOOZING STATEMENT ADMITTED IN TRIAL

Noblesville, Ind., Oct. 31.—Judge William M. Sparks today censured the boozing statement of Miss Madge Oberholzer, preparatory to admitting it as evidence in the trial of D. C. Stephenson, Earl Klenck and Earl Gehty.

Stephenson, a former leader of the Indiana Ku Klux Klan, and his two aides are charged with first degree murder for the girl's death.

The dying statement of Miss Oberholzer, Judge Sparks ruled, is admissible as evidence after certain excerpts are stricken out.

The statement is Miss Oberholzer's own story of her alleged abduction by Stephenson and the other two defendants and of the assault on a train, enroute from Indianapolis to Hammond, Ind.

In their argument against the statements, defense attorneys attacked every declaration in it with the exception of that telling of Miss Oberholzer buying and taking poison, in a hotel in Hammond.

If the defense had been sustained, the statement would have been a plain declaration of suicide by the girl.

Ruling of Judge Sparks that the deathbed statement was to be admitted was the second severe repulse suffered by the defense at Friday's session.

FOUR HURT IN AUTO CRASH AFTER PARTY

Cleveland, Oct. 31.—Four Clevelanders were injured, two of them probably fatally in an auto crash at Garland Heights today.

The men, who said they were returning from an all-night party at Bedford are Joseph Gasionowski, 32; Dylvestor Rosenski, 33 and two less seriously hurt who failed to give their name.

They told police their machine skidded on the wet pavement, struck a pole and overturned.

POLICE BAFLED IN SEARCH FOR BANDITS

Toledo, Oct. 31.—Completely baffled, police today continued in an apparently fruitless search for two bandits who held up the Branch Bank of the Ohio Savings Bank here late yesterday and escaped with $15,089.

The bandits forced employees and customers into the vault, calmly gathered up the money and escaped in an automobile.

Boston's elite turned out to welcome when Lady Diana Manners, the English beauty, visited Modern Athens, where she appeared on the stage.

FORD ATTACKS KLAN IN ELECTION DRIVE SPEECH AT DETROIT

Lines With Anti-Klan Forces In Mayoralty Election Fight

Detroit, Oct. 31.—Injection of Henry Ford's personality into a bitter municipal election here today brought squarely into the open an evident Klan-Klan fight for control of Detroit, and definitely aligned the automobile manufacturer with the anti-Klan forces.

"I am not mentioning the Klan nor for the Masons nor Knights of Columbus, but I am including all of them," Ford declared, in an interview in which he scored organizations which "directly or indirectly seek to undermine any church."

"No child," he asserted, "ever went into a church of any denomination and came out the worse for the experience."

"People who fight against religion haven't enough religion to fight about," he added.

During the interview the automobile manufacturer incidentally expressed satisfaction with the record of the present mayor, John W. Smith, an anti-Klansman seeking re-election.

"Until intelligence spreads and the public can no longer be herded like a lot of sheep," Ford continued, "I presume we will be saddled with such organizations. I think that applies to labor as well as other organizations," he added.

"A majority of organizations thriving in the United States today," he asserted, "are breeding spots of trouble which might easily enlarge into another war."

WANT TO RETURN DRY RAIDER TO STATE

Cleveland, Oct. 31.—Action to bring to Cleveland Bert Adams, former constable of Parma Township and Chief of Herman Goldman's dry raiders, under arrest in Buffalo has been started by Assistant U. S. Attorney Miles E. Evans.

A warrant has been out for Adams since last August when U. S. Attorney A. E. Bernstein conducted an investigation of liquor law enforcement by justices of peace in Cuyahoga County. At that time he preferred conspiracy charges against several dry raiders and two justices, Gelman and C. C. Peters of Independence.

HEART DISEASE IS CAUSE OF 3 DEATHS

Cleveland, Oct. 31.—Heart disease was thought by Coroner A. P. Hammond to have caused three sudden deaths here today.

Andrew Leslie, 52, was found dead in the bath tub of his home.

Jack Gentile, 60, dropped dead at his home while going to breakfast.

John Bonnie, 59, was found dead in the rear of a house on the east side.

Revolution Near Damascus

RESIDENTS ATTACK VILLAGERS FOR NOT RESISTING FRENCH

Tribes Preparing To Revolt—Damascus Is In Turmoil

London, Oct. 31.—An Evening News dispatch from Hatt, Syria, today reported that complete revolution prevails to the north of Damascus. Telephone wires were reported cut; motor cars were stopped within ten miles of Damascus and passengers robbed.

Strong bands of men from Damascus were reported attacking villages to the north in revenge for the villagers' refusal to rise up against the French.

Damascus itself was reported quiet but strong revolutionary currents were said to be manifesting themselves there as a result of the inhabitants' rancor against the French for their recent bombardment of the city.

The French have guaranteed that there will be no further bombardment but have barricaded all streets with barbed wire and have razed garden walls in the desert city to guard against ambushes.

The inhabitants were reported slow in meeting demands for delivery of 3,000 rifles as a sort of indemnity for the uprising within the city. They are fined $2500 daily for each day they fail to deliver.

London, Oct. 31.—Arab tribes of Deirzozor, Aleppo and Palmyra are sending their women and children toward the Syrian desert, indicating the men are preparing a revolt against the French masters of Syria, according to reports reaching here. Cairo messages to the Daily Mail and Daily News say that insurrection is spreading in Syria following the outburst of anger at the alleged French bombardment and killing of many in Damascus between the 18th and 20th of this month.

One report even claims that Deirzozor is already in the hands of the rebels who attacked four villages north of Damascus, compelling the French to evacuate.

FIVE BROKERS WILL GO TO PENITENTIARY

Cincinnati, Oct. 31.—Five brokers convicted of embezzlement here were sentenced to the state penitentiary today.

George A. Sawyer, Herbert Channer and Fred McLaughlin, partners in the defunct firm of Channer and Sawyer, were sentenced to ten, nine and five years respectively.

George Beagell and William Chatfield, Jr., both of another defunct firm each drew nine years.

The Channer concern was convicted recently following a grand jury investigation of its activities. It was ordered to suspend operations and its officials were indicted.

The latter concern suspended operations several months ago and its officers subsequently were indicted.

FRAUD TRIAL WILL REACH JURY SOON

Columbus, O., Oct. 31.—The case of William G. Benham and Dwight Harrison, former officials of the Hollings Company, defunct $80,000,000 Corporation will go to a jury late today.

This was made certain as Federal Judge Smith Hickenlooper decided to hold court today in order to complete the case in time for "jurors to go home and vote."

Winding up the government's case in a plea that Benham and Harrison be found guilty of using the mails to defraud in the sale of Hollings stock, will be district attorney Haveth Mau and assistants W. R. Bartels and Simon Ross.

Before Mau closes the arguments, Smith Bennett and Robert R. Nevin, defense counsel will argue for Benham's and Harrison's freedom.

OHIO VOTERS WILL SETTLE BITTER PARTISAN CAMPAIGN AT ELECTION

Battle Over Three Constitutional Amendments Precipitates Fight Between Republicans, Democrats And Ku Klux Klan.

Columbus, Oct. 31.—Ohio voters will go to the polls Tuesday to settle one of the most bitter partisan campaigns in the history of the state.

The fight has raged around the proposed adoption of three state constitutional amendments which have the endorsement of the republican party have been instructed to vote against Democrats and the Ku Klux Klan.

The major amendment—allowing taxation of intangible property—has drawn bitter fire from the ranks of the Democrats while Republicans are waging a campaign that finds its equal only in last year's general election campaign.

The other amendments—one extending terms of elective offices to four years and the other fixing a statute of limitations for debts—have been bitterly opposed by the Democrats whose stand was supported by the Ku Klux Klan.

The Klan was expected to be one of the deciding factors in the election.

More than 125,000 hooded knights have been instructed to vote the amendments.

The amendments were passed by the 88th general assembly—a Republican legislature—and upon their passage depends the future strength of the Republican party in Ohio, political leaders say.

With the exception of the constitutional proposals the elections will be strictly local.

STILLMANS SILENT ON MARITAL STATUS

New York, Oct. 31.—From the snow-capped primeval forests of Quebec to the sun-baked sands of South Africa one increasing silence enveloped the James A. Stillmans and their marital troubles and intentions today.

Neither Mrs. Anne U. Stillman in the Grand Anse farm house, fifty miles from nowhere, virtually cut off from communication by snowed in roads and ice-laden rivers, nor her banker husband, reported on the high seas near South Africa would shed any light on the mystery. Nor was the various attorneys more accessible, but equally reticent of any use to those who wished to determine whether Mrs. Stillman actually had begun action for divorce.

Florence Leeds, "other woman" in the original Stillman case and likely co-respondent if there is another, also remained discreetly silent and in seclusion.

There was talk of a possible reconciliation between the banker and his wife but those who know the Stillmans best say this would not necessarily preclude the question of a divorce.

OHIO BRIEFS

Pomeroy, O.—"Seattle Ben," faithful old ferryboat on the Ohio River here, was sold for the same service at Racine. The boat became too small for local business.

Cleveland—C. L. Wright, 35, saved his life by grasping the cable after he had fallen three stories through an elevator shaft.

Alliance—Judge James B. Ruhl, of Cleveland, former Grand Master of Ohio Masons will preside at the consecration of the new J. E. McPadden Lodge No. 697 Free and Accepted Masons here, Saturday night.

Smithfield.—Mayor W. G. Parks has assessed $81,320, liquor fines in less than two years in office.

DOVER.—Twenty five additional men have been added to the payroll of the Reeves Manufacturing Co. here.

GENERAL E. HOWZE

General E. Howze is chairman of the trial board before whom Col. Mitchell is defending himself. Gen. Howze succeeded Gen. Sumner, who presided and excused himself when accused by Mitchell of "prejudice, hostility, bias and animosity."

MITCHELL COUNSEL DROPS PLAN TO HAVE COOLIDGE TESTIFY

Will Seek Document Suppressed By War Department

Washington, Oct. 31.—The project of the defenders of Col. William Mitchell to summon President Coolidge as a witness at the court-martial of the flying colonel was practically abandoned today and a new plan of attack considered.

While Col. Sherman Moreland, judge advocate of the trial was examining three San Antonio newspapermen to whom Mitchell gave the statements that caused all the trouble, Representative Frank Reid, Illinois, chief counsel for Mitchell, prepared to demand from the War Department, an important trial document he charged had been suppressed.

Collapse of the plan to summon the President came when investigation showed that only Col. Moreland had power to issue subpoenas in the case and an inquiry put to Moreland showed that he would refuse the defense's request if made.

The documents which the Mitchell defenders now seek is the letter which Secretary of War Davis wrote to Major General Eli Helmick, inspector general of the army, ordering the investigation of the Mitchell charges.

It was disclosed at the trial that this was omitted from the papers served on Mitchell.

Mitchell's defenders are thoroughly aroused at what they charge is the utterly irregular procedure of the war department in all the proceedings leading to the ordering of Mitchell to trial.

FARMERS WILL ASK VOICE IN TAX PLAN

Washington, Oct. 31.—Out of the west came word today that the farmers are gathering for a descent upon congress to make their voice heard in the framing of the nation's new $300,000,000 tax reduction.

Word was conveyed to the house ways and means committee today that agricultural associations are sending money for a concerted move along the lines of the campaign, for farm relief two years ago, when hundreds of farmers came to Washington.

One banking news agency here has received fourteen letters from banks in towns scattered over the midwest telling of the movement which has not yet been revealed by representatives of farmers' organizations in the east.

These letters relate that the farmers are particularly impressed with reports which have reached them that the taxes on jewelry, works of art and inheritances are to be lowered in the new bill while the automobile levy and some others in which they are interested may not receive a heavy slash.

SENTENCED TO CHAIR ON MURDER CHARGE

Canton, Oct. 31.—David Atkins, 20, appeared before Judge Alva Biehl, today to be sentenced to the electric chair for the murder of Railroad Detective Harley Malone.

Atkins was one of the three men who were ordered from a train by Malone. They opened fire on him and the detective was shot.

A jury late Friday returned a verdict of first degree murder with no recommendation for mercy.

CHARGE CONSPIRACY WITH FOREIGNERS TO MULCT GOVERNMENT

Thomas W. Miller Named In Plot To Release Bonds and Cash

New York City, Oct. 31.—Counsel for Thomas W. Miller, Wilmington, Del., former alien property custodian who was indicted with four foreigners and three foreign corporations here yesterday on charges of conspiring to defraud the United States government out of more than $7,000,000 said today he would have his client in court to plead "not guilty" next Wednesday.

The federal grand jury was "hoodwinked" into returning the indictment, Miller's attorneys said. Miller was in New York today but will not make a statement.

The indictment against the former alien property custodian and the others contained two counts and was handed up before Federal Judge Sawtelle.

Among the witnesses here this week were Roxie Stinson, Columbus, who was one of the star witnesses in the Daugherty investigation, John T. King, national republican leader and Gaston B. Means, who was brought here from Atlanta penitentiary, but his testimony was not needed.

The four aliens are accused of working through Col. Miller and others in positions of trust and responsibility at Washington to obtain cash and liberty bonds held as part of the German property seized by the United States at the start of the war.

Plans for the conspiracy were alleged to have been laid in Germany. Claims were filed under Swiss names. Former Judge Robert M. Stone, counsel for Miller, filed a blanket denial of the charges.

KNOCKS HIMSELF OUT IN INDIANAPOLIS BY HUSBAND; NOW HOME

Boston, Oct. 31.—George Marble, amateur featherweight pulled one for the book last night when he knocked himself out in a contest against John Fitzgerald, East Boston. In the first round Marble knocked Fitzgerald down but he swung so hard that he lost his balance and fell backward on his head. The force of the blow knocked him senseless.

The referee started the count with both boxers on the floor but Fitzgerald got to his feet at nine and won the fight.

LOCAL WOMAN FOUND IN INDIANAPOLIS BY HUSBAND; NOW HOME

Publicity given her mysterious disappearance nearly three weeks ago by news papers, led Mrs. E. M. Lemin, 310 West Third St., to acquaint her husband with her address Thursday and cleared up a mystery which has baffled authorities in Xenia, Dayton and Richmond for nearly a month.

Mrs. Lemin, a conductor on the Dayton and Xenia traction line, received a special delivery letter from her missing wife Thursday dated from Indianapolis, Ind., notifying her of her address. Her husband left for Indianapolis, Ind., notifying him of her with his wife Friday night.

According to her story, Mrs. Lemin had left for Dayton on her husband's car recently to visit Mrs. John Stannan, 46 Hess Street. Alighting at Wyoming Street, she lost her way. Laboring under mental stress and hallucinations that something terrible would befall her should she remain in this state, Mrs. Lemin seized the opportunity to make her way from Ohio.

Supplied with sufficient money, she went to Indianapolis by train and immediately obtained work as assistant cook at a boarding house. She had worked there ever since her disappearance.

Newspaper accounts of her disappearance were read unperturbed by Mrs. Lemin until she was suddenly taken ill with a bilious attack to which she is subject. She then decided to notify her husband of her whereabouts.

Mrs. Lemin does not talk much about her disappearance or its cause but converses mainly about her trip. Her condition was much improved after her home Saturday and she has shown no recent disposition to again leave. Her husband believes the hallucination has left her.

Mrs. Lemin was formerly a patient at the Dayton State Hospital but was recently dismissed and pronounced well.

THE REAL ISSUE

In the county the only issue as a county unit is the election of a county board of education, or three members of the board. Only the townships and school districts under the care of the county board get to vote for these members. Xenia city school district has no vote for county board members.

There are two tickets in the field. One headed by J. E. Hastings, A. E. Fisher and W. B. Bryson, all members of the present board seeking re-election. The other ticket is said to be backed by one faction of the Ku Klux Klan and is composed of Clyde Conklin, H. S. Noggle, and George C. Smith. From all reports the Klan is divided on the support of the ticket.

MALLOW-EIKENBERRY NUPTIALS SATURDAY

Miss Lois Esther Mallow, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. S. P. Mallow, Cincinnati Pike, became the bride of Mr. Paul Eikenberry, Kato, O., at the home of her parents, Saturday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock.

The marriage was solemnized with graceful ceremony. Thirty guests, relatives and close friends of the couple, witnessed the taking of the vows.

Miss Marjorie Dowdett, at the piano, played "At Downton" preceding the entrance of the bride party. While the party came down the staircase, she played the Lohengrin wedding march. The attendants, Miss Olive Mallow, sister of the bride, and Mr. George Eikenberry, brother of the bridegroom, walked first. Miss Mallow wore a frock of green crepe, combined with ecru, made with light bodice and full, circular skirt. She wore a corsage of pink butterfly roses and her footwear was of ecru shade.

The bride's gown was of white crepe, with all-over lace, made with light bodice and circular skirt. Her flowers were bride's roses, arranged in a corsage.

The bridal party assembled at the foot of the staircase, before the officiating minister, the Rev. F. W. Stanton, pastor of the First M. E. Church, who performed the single rite. She wore a gown of pink butterfly roses and her footwear was of ecru shade.

Palms and ferns were banked in the hall where the ceremony took place and the greenery was combined with cut flowers throughout the rooms. Refreshments were served after the service.

Mr. and Mrs. Eikenberry left late Saturday afternoon on their wedding trip. Mrs. Eikenberry's traveling suit was of tan, with accessories to correspond. They will make their home on a farm near Eaton, O.

Mrs. Eikenberry is a graduate of Central High School and of Miami University in 1923. She has been teaching at West Alexandria since her graduation. Mr. Eikenberry is the son of Mr. and Mrs. W. P. Eikenberry, Eaton.

HALLOWE'EN DANCE LARGELY ATTENDED

Spaniards, Arabians, Dutch and Chinese mingled with characters from books and plays Friday evening at the Knights of Pythias Hall when the Dance Fans of this city sponsored another of their successful series of winter dances.

The hall was appropriately decorated for the affair with a lattice work of orange and black above the heads of the dancers. The orchestra platform was festive with Hallowe'en appointments and the weird and comical costumes of the guests added much enjoyment to the affair. Dancers enjoyed the tantalizing rhythm of the Cornelian Singing Orchestra, Dayton, ten radio artists and entertainers, who made their second appearance here by popular request. This orchestra has become a favorite with Xenia dancers and a return engagement is hoped for.

Favors, confetti and serpentine were given the guests and as the evening grew old the scene took on a more festive appearance. Cooling refreshments attracted the dancers during the evening.

Chaperones for the affair were Mrs. G. A. Pillsbury, of this city and Mrs. G. Cornelius of Dayton, O.

Many out of town couples attended the affair from Dayton, Springfield and Miami University.

HALLOWE'EN PARTY AT COUNTRY HOME

Miss Leona Haines of the Milington Pike, entertained a company of her friends Tuesday evening at a Hallowe'en party. Games were played during the evening, after which refreshments were served.

Those present were the Misses Alice Doughman, Hazel Thomas, Martha Conklin, Aletha Conklin, Josephine Conklin, Josephine Steele, Rowena McKay, Leona Haines, Mary Colvin and Violet Haines; Messrs. Orville Antram, Edgar Gravitt, Robert Mattson, Elmer Colvin, Chancellor Miller, Bernard Steele, Harry Pickering, Wayne Middletown, and Howard Haines; Mr. and Mrs. William A. DeWitt, Mr. and Mrs. O. C. Colvin, Mrs. Josie Hurst, Mrs. Clayton Haines and Mr. and Mrs. Roy Haines and children, Charles and Elsie.

ARBORVITAE CLUB ENTERTAINED WEDNESDAY

Mr. and Mrs. Edward Hubbard, West Main Street, entertained members of the Arborvitae Club, at a merry Hallowe'en masque, Wednesday evening.

The Hubbard home was gaily decorated in orange and black, colors of the season. Old-fashioned games, dancing and singing were the amusement of the evening. Refreshments of pumpkin pie, doughnuts, coffee and cider, were served.

FIRST M. E. SOCIETY

Second Auxiliary, Women's Home Missionary Society, First M. E. Church will be entertained at the home of Mrs. L. A. Parrett, West Third Street, Monday evening, November 2. An interesting program has been prepared to begin promptly at 7:30 featured by the mite box offering.

ENTERTAINS FACULTY MEMBERS THURSDAY EVENING

Miss Mary Kilper, teacher at the Spring Hill School was a charming hostess to a group of faculty members of the school at the home of Miss Thelma Peele of Home Avenue, Thursday evening.

The rooms of the Peele home assumed a festive appearance with streamers and decorations of orange and black, favorite Hallowe'en colors. Games and contests were enjoyed and prizes were awarded winners of the contests.

At a late hour the hostess served a dainty, well appointed, two course uncheon.

Guests were: The Misses Corinne Welch, Eleanor Alexander, Hazel Schwab, Alta Turner, Thelma Peele and the hostess.

Mrs. James Hite, (Helen Maxey) of Columbus, is visiting friends in Xenia for several days.

ENTERTAINS SCHOOL MATES THURSDAY EVE

Miss Sarah Jane, George and Melvin Filson, children of Mr. and Mrs. F. F. Filson of North Detroit Street, delightfully entertained thirty of their schoolmates at their home Thursday evening at a well appointed Hallowe'en party.

The guests were ushered into the Filson rooms that were profuse with black and orange decorations, jack-o-lanterns, and halloween goblins and enjoyed music, games and contests. Prizes were awarded Dorothy Need, Paul Baldwin and Henry Banker in the contests. Each guest came masked to the affair and much entertainment was derived from guessing the identity of those present.

Later in the evening the hosts and hostess served a delicious refreshment course of ice cream, cake and Hallowe'en candles.

LUTHERAN WOMEN TO SERVE SUPPER

The members of the Ladies' Aid Society of the First Lutheran Church are planning another of their delicious suppers to be served at the church dining room Thursday evening. This is one of a series of suppers sponsored by the women of the church and is expected to attract a large number of patrons.

The menu will be as follows: creamed chicken, hot biscuits, mashed potatoes, creamed peas, cranberry sauce, bread and butter, coffee and pumpkin pie.

CARD PARTY AT HAMILTON HOME

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Hamilton entertained friends for four tables of 500 at their home on Chestnut Street, Friday evening, Hallowe'en. Colors of orange and black predominated in the decorations of the rooms.

Score prizes were awarded. A luncheon course was daintily served at a late hour. Mr. and Mrs. Harry Brown, Dayton, were the only out-of-town guests.

PYTHIAN SISTERS PLANS

A covered dish dinner will precede the regular meeting of the Triumph Temple, Pythian Sisters, Tuesday evening. Dinner will be served at 6 o'clock for members and their families and the lodge meeting will be held at 7:30 o'clock. A full attendance is desired to transact business of importance.

FANCY DRESS BALL AT HIGH SCHOOL FRIDAY

The gymnasium of Central High School lent itself admirably to the Hallowe'en decorations and appointments that made their appearance at the fancy dress ball given by members of the Junior class for the pleasure of Senior High School, Friday evening.

An overhead latticework of orange and black streamers presented an artistic ensemble and shocks of fodder lined the walls of the room. In the center of the spacious floor a large shock of fodder had been placed and around it set pumpkin heads and jack-o-lanterns. A soft light filled the room from covered lights presenting a pretty picture. A fortune telling booth was erected at the northeast corner of the hall and here strange futures and shady pasts were unfolded by Miss Roxie Channell, member of the faculty of the High School in characteristic garb.

One hundred and forty guests were received at the door at 8 o'clock, in fancy dress.

Guests had been requested not to mask.

Prizes were given Miss Barbara Little, for the most unique costume, Miss Olive Allen for the prettiest outfit and Mr. William North for the most outlandish costume.

The dance program opened with the grand march led by the senior class president, Mr. Hubert Glass and his partner. Serpentine added to the festivities. The party came to a close at 11 o'clock.

Music for the dancers was furnished by the Harmony Kings a local organization.

Members of Senior and Junior High faculty were guests at the affair. Chaperones for the affair were: Mr. and Mrs. Walter Currie, Mr. and Mrs. Milton McKay, Mr. and Mrs. Roy Spahy, Mr. and Mrs. J. J. Stout, Mrs. John Bocklet and Mrs. Zanna Buttz.

TEA AT HAGAR HOME IS CHARMING AFFAIR

One of the most elaborate and charming of the series of autumn social affairs was the reception tea, given by Miss Sarah Hagar, at her home on North Galloway Street, Friday afternoon.

More than one hundred guests were received during different hours. The Hagar home was tastefully decorated, the Hallowe'en scheme predominating. Miss Hagar was assisted in receiving by Mrs. Lonsberry, her cousin, of Dayton.

A well-appointed luncheon course was served.

O. E. S. PARTY TUESDAY

Aldora Chapter, No. 262, O. E. S., will give a Hallowe'en party at Masonic Temple, Tuesday, November 3, at 8 o'clock. All Masons and Eastern Stars with their families are invited. The usual Hallowe'en refreshments will be served in booths and dancing will be enjoyed. Many will attend in costume.

Mr. Kenneth Holman, Miami University student, is spending the week end at his home here.

PASSAGE OF CHARTER AMENDMENT TO SOLVE POLICE COURT TANGLE URGED BY JUDGE SMITH

(Editor's Note — The Gazette and the Republican are indebted to Judge H. L. Smith, president of city commission, for this explanation of the municipal court tangle and its solution through passage of the charter amendment at next Tuesday's election.)

BY H. L. SMITH

The electors are called upon to vote on an amendment to the charter of our city, at the election next Tuesday and it is well for them to be advised of the meaning of the proposed amendment.

The present charter provides that the City Commission shall designate a suitable person to act as Police Judge, with power to hear and determine all misdemeanors arising under the ordinances of the city, and under the laws of the State of Ohio, whose jurisdiction shall be the same as that now conferred and vested in Mayors.

The charter of the City of Gallipolis provided for the selection of some suitable person to be the Judge of the Municipal Court, with powers similar to the provision in our own charter.

The Supreme Court recently held that a city, by its charter, had no power to create a new court, and held such provision in the charter of Gallipolis invalid, and the acting Municipal Judge of that City, without power and jurisdiction to hear and determine cases in such court. This decision was in a case directly attacking the power and jurisdiction of the Judge of the Municipal Court. In addition to holding that a charter city could not create a court, it was also held that a Judge could not be appointed, but must be elected by the electors. So that there is no question, but that the courts would hold in a case directly raising the question that our Police Judge is not authorized under the law to hear and determine cases in the Police Court, because of the lack of power in the Commission to create a Police Court, and the further lack of power to appoint a Police Judge. Our Police Judge is still holding court and hearing and determining questions and cases arising in the Police Court. No question has, as yet, been made, directly attacking his powers and jurisdiction to act as Police Judge. He is the only person assuming to act in such capacity; was duly appointed to such office by the City Commission, nearly eight years ago; is recognized as such officer, and numerous cases from his docket have been carried to higher courts—even to the Supreme Court; and no question has ever been directly made as to his jurisdiction. He is the only acting officer in that capacity, apparently qualified and recognized as such. He is a de facto officer. One who actually performs the duties of the office, with apparent right under claim of color of appointment. One who holds the office under some power, having color of authority to appoint. Hence, so long as his power and jurisdiction are recognized and not directly attacked, his acts are valid. But the fact that he is at any time subject to direct attack, makes it not only advisable, but necessary, to make such changes in our charter, that we will not be carrying on in such a doubtful manner.

This condition has brought about the proposed amendment to the charter.

Briefly, the proposed amendment provides that the Commission shall designate by a majority vote, one of its number, to act as Mayor of the City, who shall exercise all the judicial functions of a Mayor under the general laws of the State, and who shall use the title of "Mayor" in any case in which the execution of legal instruments of writing, or other necessity arising from, and which the general law of the State so requires, but this shall not be construed as conferring upon him the veto power or the administrative functions of a Mayor. There is the further provision for a salary, giving bond and the payment of salary out of a fund produced by taxes taxed and collected by him as Mayor. He shall hold said office at the pleasure of the Commission. Here is no attempt to create a new court. A member of the Commission, elected as such by the electors, is to be designated to act as Mayor, with all the judicial powers conferred upon Mayors by the general laws of the State. He is not granted the veto power upon the acts of the Commission. Holding the office at the pleasure of the Commission, he probably would not act long after his veto of some action of the commission.

The provisions in the proposed amendment have been upheld by the Supreme Court in the case of Ide versus The State of Ohio, 95th Ohio State Reports, page 224, decided January 23, 1917.

In that case, the charter provision of the City of Sandusky, providing for the Mayor of that City, was held valid.

The difference between the Sandusky and the Gallipolis cases, is very plain. In the Gallipolis case, a new court was created—a municipal court—a court that could not be created, except by statute. In the Sandusky case, a court—the Mayor's Court—already created by statute, was continued. In the Gallipolis case, a person not elected by the electors to any office, was selected to act as Municipal Judge, while in the Sandusky case, a person elected as City Commissioner, and known when voted for, if elected, would make him eligible to be elected by the City Commission, as Mayor of the City, with all the judicial functions of a Mayor. The proposed amendment follows specifically the provisions of the Sandusky charter. The Sandusky case is not overruled by the recent Gallipolis case. In fact, the case is not cited in the later case. There is no conflict.

So, here is the opportunity for the electors to relieve the City from a condition, which ought not longer exist. I wish to urge the electors to be sure and vote for the amendment to the charter. This is a question which the Charter Commission, when preparing the charter, could not have foreseen, and now that we are aware of the defect, we should seize upon the first opportunity to remedy it.

Contest!

Designs submitted to fill this space will be one feature of CHILDREN'S BOOK WEEK EXHIBIT, November 9-14 at the Greene County Library. Parents and children, visit this exhibit!

Can You Fill This Space?

The Greene County Library Board offers a prize of $5 in gold for an original drawing to be used as the heading for Greene County Library Notes—a new feature to appear every week in the Gazette and the Republican.

The contest is open to all school children of Greene County. The Carnegie Library, located in Xenia, the county seat, belongs to every resident of the county. The board hopes for designs from each township. The prize money has been given by a member of the board. All designs submitted will be on exhibit at the County Library during Children's Book Week, November 8 to 14th.

Boys and Girls! Enter this contest. Win $5 in gold. See your design each week in the paper.

RULES OF THE CONTEST

1—The contest is open to any boy or girl attending school, below college rank in Greene County.

2—Size of the original design is not limited, but its proportion must be such as to make a suitable heading two columns wide, which means its depth should be half its width, or less.

3—Designs will be judged for appropriateness, simplicity and originality. There will be three judges each from a different township.

4—All entries must be in by 5 p. m. Thursday, Nov. 5, 1925.

5—Entries must be brought or mailed to the County Library, 201 East Church Street, Xenia.

6—The name and address of contestant must be placed in a sealed envelope enclosed with design.

DO NOT PUT YOUR NAME ON THE DESIGN.

BENEFITS WIDESPREAD.

AGAINST professional sports and even against amateur sports as exemplified in college games, it is urged sometimes that the benefits are confined to too narrow a class, that the players are the only ones who get the exercise which justifies indulgence in such activities. This position is hardly tenable. While the players occupy the center of the stage when the games are in progress, in some instances the efforts made by spectators to be present involve more personal exertion than is expended by those taking part in the sports. The long vigil kept by no small number of persons of both sexes in order to secure tickets for the World's Series is indicative of what a non-player may be called on to endure in baseball.

In the matter of college football certainly there is no want of activity on the part of the student body not members of the squad. With the "pep" meetings and parades in advance of the games and the jubilation of the victors after a game. It cannot be sustained that whatever of benefit exercise affords is withheld from the non-players. Observations of college sports would seem to bear out the statements that those not on the team get rather more of it than those who play. The latter are rather carefully guarded, while there is not much restraint placed on the former, other than what the human frame can endure. In the matter of celebrating a victory over a hated rival there apparently is not much limit to the endurance.

The roars that go up from the grandstand in applause of a brilliant play offer evidence that even spectators may exert themselves, though they do it in a manner at variance with the players. It might be desirable to have direct part in games more widely distributed, but it cannot be successfully contended that spectators do not get a deal of exercise too.

THE ROUGE POT.

AN EXPERT on cosmetics is quoted to the effect that the use of powder, rouge and lip stick by women is a sign of advancing civilization. He supports his case by citing evidence of such use in civilizations of the past. Some years back, when paint on the face was generally considered as a badge of something other than civilization, or rather of a notorious vice of civilization, the rouge and lip stick could have been cited against them as Jezebelian indicia. It all depends on the fashion and current view. What is one generation's shame is another's glory, and in the case of cosmetics the two alternate.

But why waste argument over cosmetic as evidence of progress in civilization when their use is to be traced to something human enough, to be sure, but without relation to civilization—that is, to woman's desire to appear beautiful? The women of barbaric tribes are reported to be devotees to beautifying paint. Use of powder, rouge and the lip stick comes natural to the fair ones, if the constancy with which they apply cosmetics means anything. The eternal female and her charm—what have they to do with civilization?

THE NEW MENDICANCY.

ONE out of every six persons in the United States owns an automobile and the other five are "hop-hikers." At least so it seems to the average motorist.

The thumb-pointing ride-beggars constitute a new social problem in this country. Their numbers are legion and they hail from no single strata of society. They are a motley crew and, because of it, they are a greater problem to the motorist public.

Unlike Thoreau, who spurned every offer of a lift, these free travelers understand it to be the duty of every passing motorist to offer them a ride. Gentlemen are encountered among them, but the impudence and effrontery of the many make the way harder for all.

Probably there is no motorist who, having available seating space, will not on occasion invite aboard the lone wayfarer. But there are times when a strange passenger robs one of that privacy for which motorists turn to the wheel and the open road.

An important suit was filed today by W. L. Miller, as city solicitor to oust the People's Gas and Electric Company from Xenia or compel it to properly equip its plant for furnishing gas to the city.

There was much disappointment Tuesday night when it was learned Senator Charles Dick and Hon. J. H. Schively, who had been announced to speak here on political issues of the campaign, could not appear.

Xenia was honored by a distinguished visitor in her midst on Thursday in the person of Governor Folk of Missouri.

dark color to match the rest of the furniture.

And of course the nursery must have a desk. Every child needs a place for his pencils, crayons and pads. A mere table will not do. Pigeon-holes are needed, and drawers, for the neat storage of writing materials. Older boys and girls, of the student age, which provides ample table-desk which provides ample room for "exam" papers, books, and perhaps a small, portable typewriter.

"When we can afford it, we are going to have a writing desk in every room in the house except dining room and hall," declared a newly married couple.

There is no doubt that desks do add much comfort to a room. I have noticed that the desk-in-every-room policy is carried out in many homes with great decorative effect. The home of one of my friends has a well-known table-desk in every bedroom (the kind with glass tops under which is put cretonne to match the window drapes). As I have been a guest in this home, I can testify to the convenience of sitting down to a regular writing place to pen a letter or jot down notes and memos, no matter how early or late the hour.

Another woman of my acquaintance has a plain small-size table fitted up as a desk in her kitchen. Its blue blotter, thumb-tacked down, harmonizes cheerily with the blue dots in the muslin window curtains and the blue figure in the linoleum floor covering. "I tally up my food expenses there," explained this housekeeper, "and it is so handy when I want to write my order lists—only a step from the pantry. When I used to make up the grocery list in the living room, I was continually running back and forth from the front to the back of the house. A kitchen desk surely is a time-saver and step-saver."

"What kind of desk is appropriate for my living room?" is a question which comes in to me occasionally from Column Readers. If your living room contains mahogany pieces, then you cannot make a more attractive choice than one of the antique mahogany desks with the "serpentine" front (or a reproduction). Then there are combination bookcase-desks and many other styles of antique desks and quaint "secretaries." Often a modern-style desk of good lines seems just the right thing. Or, for economy's sake, a willow desk stained some

Today's Talks.

DISAPPOINTMENT

There is nothing that so darkens a heart as disappointment. And when this disappointment is in a friend, the sadness is that much more poignant.

All through life we grope for friends and arrive at middle life with but a handful. But we wouldn't trade that handful for a city or a kingdom.

God is very good to him who has a half dozen friends.

Sometimes I think that life's greatest task is its hunt and holding of friends. For if we gain everything else and have not friends, we are failures indeed. We can gather knowledge and acquire a rich mind, we may work and accumulate wealth, but if we haven't choice human beings that we can warm in our hearts then life is just a snail and there isn't very much ahead that is worth while.

Disappointment in the ordinary things that come up from day to day is hard enough but when we are disappointed in a friend, the world seems to sink to a lower level.

I have an idea that the suffering of the Cross was but a mere circumstance to the suffering that came to Jesus from the disappointment that burned behind the kiss of Judas.

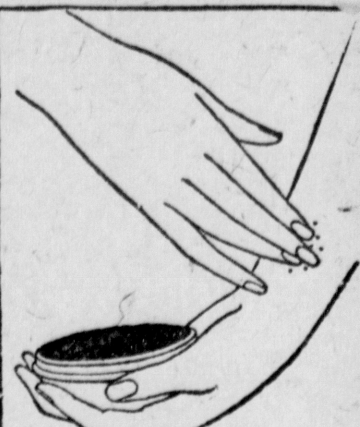

Even Judas himself came to realize this for when he work up to what he had done, his remorse was so great that life was no longer worth while and so he stole away and hanged himself.

You can't explain away disappointment. You have to digest it. But the heart works so much harder and sadder at its task.

You may be in the midst of the liveliest activity but when a friend disappoints you, in reality you are very much alone.

But we were placed in this world to bear disappointment, to face facts and not complain. Even though we plant love where it doesn't bloom.

THE GARDEN IN AUTUMN

The garden looks a little ragged now. The brown eyed Susans all have gone to seed.

Among the roses there is many a weed and old and tired the phloxes sag and bow.

The dahlias bloom as if they knew, somehow.

The killing frost is coming on full-speed.

But here and there a plant is brave indeed.

Twice die, but with a blossom on its brow!

Plants age so gracefully, as if they'd saved.

A little of their strength for that last hour.

When the chill blast of winter must be braved.

To meet the grim all-conqueror in flower!

Even the daisy, as it meets its doom, spends its last bit of strength to pass in bloom.

NOW DOES ALL HER WORK

Has No Backache, No Bad Feelings
Because Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound Drove Her Illness Away

Milwaukee, Wisconsin.—"I was in a badly run-down condition and I would get weak spells and terrible headaches. I felt so badly last year that I could not do any housecleaning. The minute I would lift or stoop it seemed as if I was going to fall to pieces. I told a neighbor how I felt and she said that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound was surely the right thing for me. I took four bottles then and in the fall of the year I took three. I had been treated by a doctor but he gave me an iron tonic and that did not help me. It seemed that the tonic did not have in it what the Vegetable Compound did. That gave me the strength and ambition I needed and I have gained in weight. This year before I started to clean house I got four bottles of the Vegetable Compound and am taking it right along. I tell all my friends about it and how much good it does me. They can notice it because I have gained in weight. I weigh 118 now and do all my work myself again."—Mrs. EMIL O. BRANDENBURG, 351 37th Street, Milwaukee, Wisconsin.

COMMON PLEAS COURT FINDS CASE IN FAVOR OF PLAINTIFF FRIDAY

Reversing the Appellate Court decision, a jury in Common Pleas Court hearing the second trial of the suit of Harry D. Smith, as receiver of the defunct Strawn Press Company against George I. Graham to recover thirty-three and one-third percent upon the defendant's subscription for capital stock in the concern, found in favor of the plaintiff, Friday afternoon. Counsel for the defense will immediately appeal the verdict, they announced.

The defendant, as in the first trial, set up two major defenses. The most important defense, that of fraudulent misrepresentations was again ordered excluded from the testimony by Judge R. L. Gowdy. However, the ruling in this instance was based on the amended plaintiff petition which simply set forth and sought to prove debts existing in the now defunct company and the necessity to pay them off. In this case rights of creditors are affected.

The Appellate Court in reversing the first Common Pleas Court decision unfavorable to Graham, had remanded the case for a new trial charging Judge Gowdy erred in excluding defense testimony of fraud on the grounds of defense misrepresentations of existing facts is available against a corporation where the rights of creditors are not affected.

The question of insolvency was the only question considered at the second trial, upon which the verdict was based. Harry D. Smith, receiver, testifying upon the question of solvency of the company, said there are certain assets in his hands which are of doubtful value. The cost of receivership, according to his testimony ranges from $1,500 to $2,000.

Defense counsel says in view of the situation as to the insolvency of the company, the defendant should have been entitled to submit competent evidence in support of their claim as to the fraudulent misrepresentation of the company and its agents; and that the rulings of the trial court excluding such evidence was prejudicial error.

Attorneys W. L. Miller, J. A. Finney and Marcus Shoup represented the plaintiff while Attorney Kusworm, of Dayton, represented the defendant.

SPEED BALL ADDED TO ANTIOCH SPORTS

Varsity speed ball has replaced the great American college game of football on the athletic calendar of Antioch College. It is learned, Speed ball is a combination of soccer and basketball. The national grid game was dropped two years ago because of the new method of education at the college and announcement is made that speed ball has been officially adopted as a substitute.

With the division system of education in use at the college the athletic instructor was heretofore faced with the annual problem of developing two entirely separate eleven. Other sports not present, this difficulty

FOUR ARRAIGNED IN WATCHMAN MURDER

Akron, Ohio, Oct. 31.—Four negroes were arraigned here today and charged with the murder of Night watchman George Obermeier, whose body with skull crushed, was found in the Hyde Garage here Thursday.

Those arraigned were Cletus John son, 22; Tom Smith, 27; Jesse Johnson, 23, and John Thornton, 16. Two of the negroes have confessed killing Obermeier, according to the authorities. The other two deny any connection with the murder.

Obermeier's body was burning when found. He was slain during a quarrel with the negroes according to police. His clothing was saturated with gasoline and ignited.

ABSENT VOTERS TO HAVE LAST CHANCE

Qualified voters in Greene County who expect to be absent from the county Tuesday, municipal election day, are given their last opportunity to cast their votes by applying to the board of elections in the final day on which applications for absent voters ballots will be received unless mailed to officials of the board on or before October 31.

The absent ballot vote is slowly mounting but is still a great decline from the vote recorded at the last presidential election, it is said. On election day the polls will be open from 5:30 a. m. to 5:30 p. m. giving voters twelve hours in which to cast their ballots.

KATHERMAN OUTFIT LOSES TO WILMINGTON

Wilmington College gridlers defeated Coach Jerry Katherman's Capital University football team by a score of 4 to 0 in the annual homecoming game at Wilmington Friday afternoon. Two safeties spelled the Bolon coached team's margin of victory.

Wilmington failed by a bare twelve inches to push over a touch down near the end of the game after working the ball from the twelve yard line. The final gun cracked too soon.

Wilmington's scores were made in the first and third quarters.

CHRYSLER FOUR

Performance and Beauty That Appeal to Those Who Know

The nation-wide popularity of this new quality Four is due to the enthusiasm of men and women who say they have never seen its equal for comfort, beauty, ease of handling and performance.

These characteristics, so uniquely Chrysler, are the result of the application, for the first time, of the proved scientific engineering of its famous companion car, the Chrysler Six, to four-cylinder practice.

Linked to this is a degree of manufacturing skill and accuracy found only in Chrysler products.

They appreciate in particular the greater safety of Chrysler hydraulic four-wheel brakes, furnished on this new Four at slight extra cost for the first time on any car of like price.

Test these distinctive Chrysler Four advantages yourself. We welcome the opportunity of a demonstration.

REMOVAL OF OSBORN AND DAMAGE AWARD BOOSTED TAX RATE

Enforced change in location of the village of Osborn is proving expensive to the town tax payers.

This fact is shown in the rate of taxation for Osborn in 1924 recently set by the County Budget Commission.

Xenia boasts of the largest tax rate of the taxing districts in the county with $26 per $1,000 property valuation but Osborn has a rate of only $15.50 less.

Osborn's rate went up several mills from the 1923 figures and the new rate is attributed to the expensive process of moving the village. Many improvements are needed and the town also had to meet a $5,000 damage award to a stenographer of Wright Field injured in a fall in the village, with an extra tax levy.

Osborn is using money for municipal running expenses that many other taxing districts in the county including Xenia city. Osborn's village tax rate is $6.90 for 1924 as compared to $5.90 for Xenia.

Osborn also is asking voters' support of an extra tax levy at the November 3 municipal election.

WINS JUDGMENT; HUSBAND DIVORCED

CONFESSED JUDGMENT

ACCIDENT VICTIM STILL AT HOSPITAL

Rahn W. Mettler, Greenville plasterer, seriously injured October 3 when the automobile in which he was riding was struck by a fast Pennsylvania passenger train at the Jamestown pike crossing near Xenia, is still confined to Espey Hospital and may not be able to be removed to his home for several weeks, it is said.

Mettler's injuries while unlikely to prove fatal, consist mainly of a broken pelvic bone which has spread and does not grow together in the usual manner. He also has a broken hip, the bones being pushed to one side in such a manner as to prevent their healing quickly.

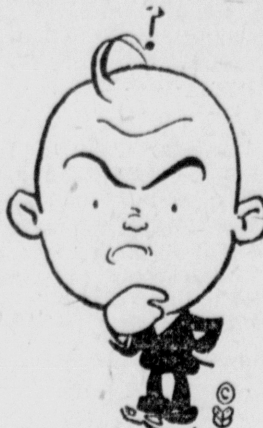

Physicians plan to take another X-ray of the bone breaks this week with the hope of an improvement in the condition of the bones exists.

XENIA ATTORNEY IN WASHINGTON CASE

Through efforts of his counsel, F. L. Johnson, Xenia attorney, Frank Calvert, Washington, C. H., was given his freedom Thursday morning from Fayette County Jail, by Judge C. A. Zeid, who held that Calvert had been wrongfully held in the jail.

Calvert was arrested and convicted on a liquor charge in Justice Charles Hard's court, Washington, C. H. Failure to pay a fine of $500 and costs resulted in his imprisonment in the Dayton Workhouse.

Who Throws The Bricks?

It is undoubtedly a sad but actual truism that frequently when leadership is assumed by a civic spirited citizen with the interests of his community at heart, he is pelted with bricks in the shape of long and loud knocking just as soon as he gets in front of the crowd.

The history of small cities is bitter with similar incidents. Where everybody knows his neighbor—knows his faults and mistakes and ignores his good points and his commendable civic soul, it is common practice to shout "graft" if this neighbor assumes so charitable and optimistic outlook upon his fellow man as to attempt to do something under the banner of civic progress.

It is the experience of Xenia that every organization of merchants that has sprung up here, has blossomed for a time and then withered and died under the biting rays of jealousy, sarcastic dissension, lack of unity, and failure to co-operate. This is not an enviable record and in defense of those who have striven to give Xenia a progressive civic organization, it must be said that most of the knocking came from outside the membership.

It has probably never occurred to many Xenians that in assailing on general principles every movement tending to civic improvement they are not only cracking the dyke that defends the city against commercial and business and social stagnation, but bid fair to drown themselves in the general destruction that will follow.

We merchants on this page think a little boosting of home talent, a little scratching of each other's backs and a small dose of that old remedy "buy at home," will solve many ills locally whether you do your dealing with us or some other Xenia merchant.

MRS. DAVIS AGENT FOR BUR-TEX RUGS

Mrs. Charles A. Davis, 13 North Galloway Street, is agent for Bur-Tex Wool Faced Rugs, made in refined dyes and colors. The Bur-Tex method of a patented process of rug making that will save millions of dollars each year to American homes.

They are a satisfying floor covering marking an important step forward in the rug making industry. They combine beauty with utility in a most practical form. Desirable for home purposes or any other place where rugs are used.

They are made in sizes to meet practically every requirement, most hall runners to match, in shades and colors to suit the most discriminating buyer, establishing a new standard of rug construction for service, beauty and economy.

Mrs. Davis is well versed in the merits of the rugs and will be glad to consult Mr. Kany and his satisfaction of a perfect garment.

JACOB KANY MASTER OF TAILORING CRAFT

The highest compliment one can pay to a man's appearance is to say he is a "tailor-made man." This is taken to mean that he is perfectly turned out by his tailor, to whom he gives the contract of making "the clothes make the man."

When a garment is "tailor-made" everyone knows that expert workmanship has made it the best finished and of the best taste. The best dressed man of today is the one who has his clothes tailor-made and religiously sticks to this rule.

Jacob Kany, Xenia tailor, has been established in this tailoring business in Xenia for a number of years and has held his reputation with Xenia men who desire the best under the years. He has perfect taste in the selection of materials, design, style and workmanship. For your next suit, consult Mr. Kany and his satisfaction of a perfect garment.

J. W. KENDRICK IS EXPERT CONTRACTOR

Besides having planned and built an attractive row of houses on North Galloway Street, J. W. Kendrick, local contractor and architect, has filled contracts of other persons who desired the latest beauty of the builder's art.

Mr. Kendrick has planned a number of the finest homes in the city. His building ability combines convenient home arrangement and out of the ordinary styles of architecture. His houses have a "different" look that appeal both to the admirer of common-sense and individual design.

Mr. Kendrick came to Xenia from Dayton where he filled many large building contracts. His work in Xenia has added to the city's reputation of fine homes and he is willing to further add to the city's building work.

"Not Possible To Classify"

By Mack Sauer

For some time there has been talk of having a Woman's Auxiliary to the Hammer Club. Last evening one of the members (name withheld to prevent divorce proceedings) spoke to the club on the subject as follows:

GENTLEMEN: Back in the good old days when women stayed at home and tended to their business and the baking, and the men did the voting, such men as Washington and Lincoln were elected to the presidency of this great land of Liberty and the Saturday Evening Post. As soon as the women got the vote they wanted to elect Charley Bryan, (Laughter and Applause.)

The women have been showing good form and plenty of it lately, but their voting hasn't resulted in the electing of officials worthy of a place in the hall of fame. As soon as the women get the vote we had to place signs 100 feet from the voting booths so they would be able to stop talking by the time they got in the booths.

Women have quit stuffing sausage and are now stuffing the ballot box. They have quit canning tomatoes and now they get an entire meal out of a can. They even get music out of a tin-penny piano. They don't know that their place is in the home.

Where are the women of yesterday? They are in our barber shops. They are in our offices. They are in our hotels. They are everywhere, gentlemen, but here in this noble club. Let us keep them out. As one who desires a little personal liberty, I want to go on record as opposed to having women connected in any way with this noble order.

HAD ONE OF HIS OWN

One thing our grandfathers didn't have to worry about was frozen radiators. By the way have you laid in your coal? A poor place to lay. However, if you need some coal, read the coal ads.

FOUR SCHOOL LEVIES UP BEFORE VOTERS

Voters in certain townships on election day, next Tuesday, will be asked to support four extra tax levies by boards of education of seven school districts for current school running expenses, according to election board officials.

Voters in the east and west precincts in Bath Township and Fairfield and Osborn are requested to approve a three mill tax levy for five years by the Bath Consolidated Rural School District.

The Xenia city school district and Ross Township rural school district are asking support of similar three mill levies extending over a five year period while the Caesar Creek Township rural school district presents an extra measure of one mill for two years.

HALLOWE'EN AIN'T WHAT IT WAS

Hallowe'en isn't what it used to be!

In previous years boys and girls, too, saved up their devilment for this season and the neighbors had to watch their gates, prepare for their windows to be battered with ancient vegetables and have their porch furniture disappear.

Autochairs have increased their waterfulness for juvenile nocturnal maneuvers. The "arm of the law" has been even quicker to catch the offender and boys and girls are using greater caution in their fun.

Police Chief M. E. Graham is giving the youths of the city fair warning of punishment of their plots. "Any property that is destroyed during the Hallowe'en season must be paid for or offenders suffer the consequences" is his ultimatum.

Reports of damage wrought by youngsters have already reached the police and with the approach of October 31, the officers are taking no chances on further damage.

So watch your step, boys!

"Bobbed Hair"
A DAZZLING MYSTERY STORY BY TWENTY FAMOUS AUTHORS

Copyright 1924-25, P. F. Collier & Son Co. and G. P. Putnam's Sons
"BOBBED HAIR" with Marie Prevost is a pictorialization of this story by Warner Bros. Pictures, Inc.

SYNOPSIS

Connemara Moore promised that if she appeared at Aunt Celimena's party tonight with her hair bobbed, she would become engaged to Bingham Carrington. Otherwise she would accept Saltonstall Cabot Adams. The guests—including the two suitors—are assembled, but Connie aggravates them by wearing a headress that conceals her auburn head. The decision must be made known before midnight or her aunt will disinherit her. And the minutes are flying by—rapidly.

"Oh, my dear Mr. Brewster, you've never known any woman except Miss Celimena, which misleads you frightfully. Of course, it's because she has decided that Connemara is so frightened now. Busily pushed from behind by her aunt and her aunt's lawyer, she has shut her eyes, jumped over the precipice—and then—well, behold her hanging by a slender branch!"

Mr. Brewster seemed unaffected by the picture. "She will have to drop before twelve o'clock," he said. "But that's nearly three hours away," mused Miss Glenn. "And so many things can happen in three hours."

"As for instance?"

"Well, the world might come to an end at 11:30. Or Miss Celimena might weaken."

"I agree with you," said Mr. Brewster, "that those two events are likely to occur at about the same time."

"Or a beautiful young ruffian might step out of the syringa bushes and carry her off in his arms."

"I should think," said Mr. Brew-

"I would like to know what is under that headress of yours."

ter, "that she would rather prefer crashing on the rocks below."

"I told you," retorted Miss Glenn, "that you had never known any woman except Miss Celimena."

Meanwhile, this good lady, along whose path in life the syringa bushes had given forth nothing but a refined fragrance, was restlessly on the prowl. The dances at Moorelands had begun at 8:30 in her youth, and they still began at 8:30 even if she alone was ready at that hour.

Usually she dritted on the fringe of the dance floor, indicating with a skilful shoulder blade and an expert eyebrow that the daughters of her old neighbors were disporting themselves in an unseemly manner. But this evening she was alive to nothing but the discomfort caused by the fact that, partly through her own unacknowledged fault, the peace of Moorelands was disturbed by the rowdy commotions of melodrama.

The heroine of this gaudy play was dancing with simple earnestness. As the orchestra paused for breath and just as the two suitors were starting to waste theirs on the hidden ears of Connemara, her aunt advanced upon her formidably, detached her from some limber but socially negligible partner, and led her out on to the veranda. A young and affectionate couple, who had retreated to his shadows in response to some primeval instincts, scented the approach of a family scene and scuttled obligingly into the house.

Connemara, outwardly serene in the mild garb of the nun, sat on the rail of the veranda, leaned her secretive head against its weather-beaten pillar and looked out across the acres that could be hers at the drop of a hat—or at least of a hand-dieu, cap, and veil. The local fireflies were doing their best to make Moorelands seem festive. A mile or so away there was a faint glow in the sky. That was Stamford.

Nearer by there was an occasional twinkle in the darkness—one of the several battered farmhouses where tenants had once toiled for old Daniel Moore, but which had been taken over of late years by refugees from the pueblo cliffs of New York.

The once orthodox countryside, dotted with something like peasantry that had doffed respectful hats to young Miss Celimena as she drove smartly along the roads in her shining phaeton, was now infested with a strange riffraff of column conductors, feminist agitators, comedienues, and music critics.

These not only did doff their hats; they didn't wear any. And even Miss Celimena knew that the pre-tentious names which adorned their reclaimed cottages were affixed in derision of that delusion of grandeur which had possessed her revered father when, after accumulating his fortune, he turned ducal on a surprised neighborhood and named his estate Moorelands—for all the world as though it were a shooting box in Devonshire.

Thus one of these new neighbors had named his tottering cottage "The Ricketts" and another—a brilliant young Jew from Harvard—had sardonically hung out a sign which announced to the offended Miss Moore that the name of his house was "The Hebrewster."

"My dear Constance," her aunt began in a tone which suggested that by "dear" she meant "expensive."

"Yes, aunt."

"You are so like your dear mother tonight. She could never merely come into a room. She always had to make what that actor friend of yours calls an entrance."

"Yes, aunt."

There was a pause. Miss Celimena broke it. "I would like to know what is under that headress of yours."

"Thoughts, Aunt Celimena."

"What a change!" observed her aunt gloomily. "I think a penny would be an exorbitant charge for them."

Connemara chuckled. "You're quite right," she admitted cheerfully. "I was thinking as it happens about that Mrs. Buxton who got into one of your luncheons by mistake. That Mrs. Malaprop. You remember. She was the one who said her daughter had gone to a masquerade in the garbage of a nun."

There was another pause—an acrid pause. This time it was the old grandfather's clock in the hall which broke it. Both of them counted as its sweet bell rang ten times.

"Well," said Miss Celimena, gathering her shawl about her, "you have two hours in which to indulge yourself in this fiddle-faddle. I suppose it would be asking a good deal to expect any one of your generation to repay a lifetime of affection by a little courtesy, but it would add to my somewhat impaired enjoyment of this party if you would assure me that you intend to take off that contraption before you hear that clock strike twelve."

"I promise, aunt," she said, and added speculatively, "before I hear that clock strike twelve."

Miss Celimena's resentful skirts swished against the French window, and Connemara was alone on the veranda. The orchestra had subsided with a final snort and the only sound came from the lawn, where a sprinkler whirled in the darkness or from across the hedge where a streak of light told of some automobile heading for Stamford and New York. The night air was sweet with syringa.

And at that moment one of those cars slowed down and stopped—stopped alongside the road as if its driver had begun to have suspicions about its internals and was minded to peer under its hood. That, as a matter of fact, was just what had happened, and when young David Lacy finally straightened up he was aware that someone had stepped out of the darkness and was standing in the dusk that lay beside the path of light his lamps were making. It was a woman in white and, in a voice which he later decided was the loveliest sound he had ever heard, she spoke to him thus simply and to the point:

"If that car will run now, I think I'll go with you. Where are you going?"

"To Paris," he replied happily.

A Secret And sunny shampoo

By Edna Wallace Hopper

I have glorious hair, as millions of women know. Its glint is like a halo, on the stage or on the street.

I don't know how I get it. I only know that it comes to me through what they call a Fruity Shampoo.

Very wonderful men, perfected it for me, but they never would give me the formula. They say that one ingredient gives that matchless glint, but they never would tell me what it is.

But they make it for me to supply to you, just as they make it for me. It is the greatest shampoo in existence. I say that after trying scores of them, and searching the world for the best.

I want you to try it. I want you to see the luster that it adds to hair. I would not take a fortune for what it has done for mine.

I cannot tell you the secrets of its wizard-like results. They have never been told to me. But those results will amaze and delight you. Ask any toilet counter for Edna Wallace Hopper's Fruity Shampoo, and you'll get exactly what I use. The price is 60 cents.

And your dealer will return your money if you think that any other shampoo comes within a mile of this. For your own sake, see what it does.

Mail the coupon for a sample bottle and my beauty book.

MODISH MITZI—The Goofer Would do Anything for Mitzi

By JAY V. JAY

"There, now, you can't possibly miss her. She'll wear a coat with a fur collar and it is golden pheasant that new shade of brown, you know," explains Mitzi to the Goofer. It seems easy the way Mitzi says it and there is nothing for him to do but go to meet an unexpected guest since Mitzi must stay home to greet her bridge guests.

The thought of Mitzi in that dress with its high collar and scarf ends is probably what keeps him to his duty. This young lady wears a brownish coat with a fur collar, but she doesn't seem to be ordinal when the Goofer speaks. Mistaken. She certainly answers the description.

Here is another charming young woman in a coat with a fur collar. The fur runs in little bands right down the length of the coat. Taking his nerve in his hand, or with whatever he can most conveniently grasp it, the Goofer asks her if she is waiting for some one. "No, no." Quite positively, suspiciously and angrily "no!"

What is the Goofer to do? Does every one wear coats with fur collars this year? Well, nearly everyone he finds out. He'll try again, at least this young woman looks more enthusiastic. The coat is a golden pheasant, he feels sure. The collar is fur. Is she waiting for Miss Mitzi? She is! Life is endurable once more. But then, he'd do anything for Mitzi. He has proved it, too.
